

Adult Medicine PRN Outstanding Paper of the Year Award

The Adult Medicine PRN Outstanding Paper of the Year Award is for an outstanding contribution to the biomedical literature that is relevant to pharmacy practice in the area of adult medicine. The award will be given annually to the primary or senior author of an important manuscript relevant to adult medicine pharmacotherapy published during the calendar year preceding the ACCP Annual Meeting at which the Award is presented.

Eligibility Criteria:

The Nominee should be:

- Primary author of the nominated manuscript as described above
- An ACCP member in good standing
- An Adult Medicine PRN member in good standing for at least two consecutive years

Nomination Submission Requirements:

- Eligible papers shall be nominated by an Adult Medicine PRN ACCP member who was not a co-author on the paper. Nominations may be made to the committee chair on an ad hoc basis or by submitting a letter of recommendation (see below). Individuals are able to self-nominate, but will need to have two letters of recommendation as stated below. All papers will be evaluated and assessed based on classification, significance to adult medicine pharmacotherapy, methodology, results, and journal impact factor.
- Two letters of recommendation which address the significance of the paper are required for consideration. Letters are accepted, but not required at the time of nomination. A maximum of two letters of recommendation will be reviewed by the committee. At least one of the letters must be from an Adult Medicine PRN member, but letters from co-authors of the paper will not be accepted. Letters of recommendation from non-ACCP members (i.e. colleagues, supervisors, other health care providers) attesting to the significance of the paper are welcomed, but only one of the two letters of recommendation may come from the institution of the nominee's current employment.
